March 1, 2020 is the Submission Deadline:

The Hong Kong Association for Educational Communications and Technology (HKAECT) invites original, high-quality full-length article submissions for its upcoming Springer's edited volume 2020 entitled "Learning Environment and Design: Current and Future Impacts". The environment in which individuals teach and learn have been changing. New media and technologies have been infiltrating and shaping our learning environment and converting it from merely physical spaces into multifaceted possibilities. This gives rise to certain important issues, such as appropriate designs of learning environments that harness technologies to better engage learners and exploring new roles learners and educators play in this changing learning environment.
